Prayer of St. Francis. Sunday 4th October 2026

Lord , make me an instrument of your peace.
Where there is hatred, let me sow love,
Where there is injury, pardon,
Where there is doubt, faith,
Where there is despair, hope,
Where there is darkness, light.
Where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master,
Grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console,
To be understood as to understand ,
To be loved as to love.

For it is in giving that we receive;
It is in pardoning that we are pardoned;

Wednesday 7th October: Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary

Friday 9th October: Feast of St. John Henry Newman.

May the Lord support us all the day long,
till the shades lengthen and the evening comes,
and the busy world is hushed, and the fever of life is over,
and our work is done.
Then in his mercy may he give us a safe lodging,
and holy rest, and peace at the last. Amen

UNFAITHFUL LEADERS

It is important to see the parable of the tenants, in Mt 21:23-43, in the context of Jesus' impending Passion and Death. For the previous six months he had been telling his disciples that the rulers in Jerusalem would kill him (cf. Mt 16:21; 17:23; 20:18). Now he tells the rulers the same thing, albeit in parable form.

Profits from vineyards usually did not begin to be realised until four years after planting. The owner, in the parable, was presumably wealthy enough to be able to afford such a delay. In Galilee many landless peasants found work on larger estates. Absentee landowners either contracted labourers or rented their land to tenant farmers. The latter lived and worked their holding and paid the landowners a portion of their harvest.

According to The Oxford Bible Commentary, this parable, which is to be found in the three synoptic Gospels, is an allegory about faithlessness and judgement. Its character as an allegory does not mean that it is not true to life. Overall, it has a symbolic meaning.

- The vineyard stands for Israel
- The householder stands for God
- The tenant farmers stand for leaders of Israel
- The fruit stands for what is owed to God
- The rejection of servants stands for rejection of prophets
- The sending and rejection of the son stand for the sending and rejection of Jesus
- The punishment of the tenants stands for Jerusalem's destruction
- The new tenants stand for the church where many of its members were Gentiles
- The parable and its interpretation combine the traditional motif of the rejection and even murder of the prophets with the equally traditional metaphor of Israel as God's vineyard (cf. Is 5:2).

The parable identifies the tenants not with the Jews in general but with the Jewish leaders in particular. St Peter spoke about this when he said, in a sermon at Pentecost, 'you disowned the Holy and Righteous One and asked that a murderer be released to you. You killed the author of life, but God raised him from the dead. We are witnesses to this.' (Acts 3:14-15) The parable focuses on the conflict between Jesus and Israel's leaders, not Jesus and Judaism. So, the kingdom is taken from the Jewish leaders and given to the post resurrection generation which was comprised of messianic Jews and Gentile converts. ■

What produce has God obtained from you, a tenant of his vineyard?

THE COMMUNION RITE

Behold the Lamb of God, ...
Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the word and my soul shall be healed.

Communion Antiphon (Lam 3:25)

The Lord is good to those who hope in him, to the soul that seeks him.

Prayer after Communion

Grant us, almighty God, that we may be refreshed and nourished by the Sacrament which we have received, so as to be transformed into what we consume.
Through Christ our Lord. Amen.
