TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"A King gave a feast for his son's wedding. He sent his servants to call who had been invited, but they would not come. Next he sent more servants."

THE SURPRISE OF A GOOD FUTURE

Life in 2026 can easily weigh a person down, whether it's the financial burdens recently highlighted as the budget measures were announced or the conflict and violence plaguing places like Ukraine and the Middle East right now.

However, what adds to our pain isn't just our present situation but also the burdens of the past. For some, it may be the behaviours and mistakes of last month, last week, or even further back. For others, it may be a struggle with illness, which, even if successful, is quickly followed by another health scare or threat. With a painful past and a dark present, it's understandable to feel little hope for the future. This, however, is where we get it wrong.

This Sunday, Jesus' parable makes it clear that our past and present needn't have the final say over our future. Those with a reputable history were denied the joy of sitting at the wedding banquet, whereas those with a colourful or chequered past found themselves in the wedding hall.

So, despite the difficulties of the present and our sometimes fraught lives, we should also be prepared for pleasant surprises in the future. A future in which the Lord welcomes us, warts and all, to joyful companionship with him, both in this life and the life to come.

- Fr. Kevin
