All Saints Day

Today, November 1st, the feast of All Saints is a distinctive day in our Catholic list of feast days. The Church has a very precise process, called canonisation through which it feels confident to say that somebody has lived a life in tune with the will of God and has now reached the kingdom of heaven. However the Church knows too that we can't limit the number of people who have reached eternal happiness in continuation of their holy Christian lives. They are people known to us – family, friends, colleagues and people like ourselves who have helped the thirsty, the hungry, those without clothes and shelter. The love of neighbour that, after our death leads to God's right hand. These were the gestures that carried weight with Jesus. (Rev. 7:9-10) The feast of All Saints is a day of great hope and inspiration for us. As the Epistle to the Hebrews states "since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us rid ourselves of every burden and sin that clings to us and persevere in running the race that lies before us." (Heb. 12:1) Mass attendance A holy elderly priest was once asked "how many people attended the early morning Mass today"? He responded "There were three old ladies, the janitor, several thousand archangels, a large number of seraphim, and several million of the triumphant saints of God". But we always have room for one more! We should always keep in mind the great cloud of witnesses that surround us at every Mass. So on this feast we remember the many good people gone before us whom we've met in life and without embarrassment pray to them to help us on our journey. May we join them one day in the communion of saints. All Saints' Day is also also known as All Hallows, Day of All the Saints, Solemnity of All Saints, or Feast of All Saints. It is a solemnity celebrated by the Catholic Church and various Protestant denominations in honour of all the saints, known and unknown. In Catholic theology, the day commemorates all those who have attained the beatific vision in Heaven. *The ultimate object of the veneration of the saints is the glory of God by celebrating the the lives of those who were pre-eminent disciples of the Lord we celebrate God's influence in our lives. In the Western Church: In the early days the Christians were accustomed to solemnize the anniversary of a martyr's death for Christ at the place of martyrdom. In the fourth century, neighbouring dioceses began to interchange feasts, to transfer relics, to divide them, and to join in a common feast; as is shown by the invitation of St. Basil of Caesarea (397) to the bishops of the province of Pontus. In the persecution of Diocletian the number of martyrs became so great that a separate day could not be assigned to each. But the Church, feeling that every martyr should be venerated, appointed a common day for all. The first trace of this we find in Antioch on the Sunday after Pentecost. We also find mention of a common day in a sermon of St. Ephrem the Syrian (373), and in the 74th homily of St. John Chrysostom (407). At first only martyrs and St. John the Baptist were honored by a special day. As early as 411 there is in the Chaldean Calendar a "Commemoratio Confessorum" for the Friday after Easter. On 13 May 609 or 610, Pope Boniface IV consecrated the Pantheon at Rome to the Blessed Virgin and all the martyrs, ordering an anniversary; the feast of the 'dedicatio Sanctae Mariae ad Martyres' has been celebrated at Rome ever since. There is evidence that from the fifth through the seventh centuries there existed in certain places and at sporadic intervals a feast date on 13 May to celebrate the holy martyrs.A November festival of all the saints was already widely celebrated on 1 November in the days of Charlemagne. It was made a day of obligation throughout the Frankish empire in 835, by a decree of Louis the Pious, issued "at the instance of Pope Gregory IV and with the assent of all the bishops", which confirmed its celebration on 1 November. The octave was added by Pope Sixtus IV The feast of All Saints achieved great prominence in the ninth century, in the reign of the Byzantine Emperor, Leo VI "the Wise" (886–911). His wife, Empress Theophano – commemorated on 16 December – lived a devout life. After her death in 893, her husband built a church, intending to dedicate it to her. When he was forbidden to do so, he decided to dedicate it to "All Saints", so that if his wife were in fact one of the righteous, she would also be honored whenever the feast was celebrated. According to tradition, it was Pope Leo who expanded the feast from a commemoration of All Martyrs to a general commemoration of All Saints, whether martyrs or not....

Faith, Hope and Love

Faith lit a candle in the night and set it for my soul to see;

Hope whispered
courage to my heart
and shod my feet
and girded me;

But it was Love that showed the way,
that held my hand and walked with me.

'I invite all Christians, everywhere, at this very moment, to a renewed personal encounter with Jesus Christ, or at least an openness to letting him encounter them; I ask all of you to do this unfailingly each day.'

The Energy of True Religion
(Matthew 22:34-40)

'To love God and love your neighbour - this is one of the most attractive of the sayings of Jesus. It is an encouragement to live fully with what brings the greatest joy in life - true love of God and the neighbour. It is at the heart of good religion, and what attracts many to Jesus.

We admire those who give energy in love and service. We are proud of people we know whose lives make a great and good difference to others. We know that our family and neighbour-hood, parish and school, workplace and leisure time have been enriched by the self-sacrificing love of many people, young and old.

'He gave it his all' - we say that of a good player at the end of a match. We say of parents that they "were always there for the children. May we give all we have in our lives, giving in love, knowing that all we give is itself a gift from God, the giver of all good gifts.

SOME FEEDBACK FROM STUDENTS WHO TOOK PART IN THE POPE JOHN PAUL II AWARD 2026

* I realised that faith is not only about praying or going to Mass. It is also about how you treat people and whether you are willing to help others when they need support. It helped me connect faith with actions instead of just saying I will.

* If this experience taught me anything, it's that there are people who do believe and are really close to their religion and I have developed my respect for them.

* I think the one obstacle I had to overcome was finding going to Mass an enjoyable place as when I was younger I used to find mass very long and I was not really able to understand what was being said, but since going to mass more since taking part in JP2 I have been able to understand the gospel, readings and hymns etc. I think my faith has become stronger from taking part in JP2.

* Over time my confidence grew and I even decided to join the choir that our JP2 team founded. I would go to practise any Friday it was on and try my best to learn the songs and just do my best even though I am not the best singer. But I was doing it for the Church so it didn't feel as uncomfortable or out of the ordinary when it usually would if I sang outside the Church.

* Through these activities I have learned more about my religion and what it actually means. Mass before was routine, but being involved made it more meaningful. I have started paying more attention to the readings and think about how they apply to real life.
