Our Children in Church Policy

Next week I will meet the parents of our First Holy Communion children. The parents who will gather will be there for all sorts of reasons. Some will see First Holy Communion as an important milestone along their child's faith journey while others will see it as nothing more than a rite of passage. Some will be just going along with the flow while others will use it as an opportunity to reconsider the place faith holds in the life of their family. Some parents may opt out and others will say that they want their child to make their own choices when then grow older. All parents want the very best for their children.

As a faith community we believe that faith is important and that by bringing our children to Mass we are doing the very best for them. By bringing children to church we are in fact giving them the means by which they can make a choice. So if your children are loud, please still come to Mass.

If you're running late because getting everyone out the door was a battle, please still come. If your toddler won't sit still, please still come to church.

If your baby needs to eat, if your child asks questions at the least convenient time, please still come to church.

If someone cries, drops a toy, needs a snack, or has to make their third trip to the toilet, please still come to church.

If your child doesn't know all the words, all the prayers, or exactly when to sit and stand, please still come to church

If you feel like you spent the entire Mass managing your children and heard next to nothing of the sermon, please still come to church. If Sunday morning feels messy instead of peaceful, please still come to church.

If you're worried your children are distracting the people around you, please still come to church. Because children do not learn how to be part of the Church by staying home until they can sit quietly. They learn by being here.

They learn the singing by hearing us sing.

They learn the prayers by hearing us pray.

They learn to worship by watching us worship.

They learn that church is home because we make room for them here.

The wiggles, whispers, dropped crayons, crying babies, and little voices are not interruptions to the life of the Church.

They are evidence that the Church is alive. So bring the babies. Bring the toddlers. Bring the big kids. Come late. Sit in the back. Sit in the front. Step out when you need to and come right back in. Just come.

Children are not simply the future of the Church. They are part of the Church right now. If we don't make room for the next generation in the Church, we risk becoming a generation that leaves behind empty churches. The children in our pews today are the Church leaders, worshippers, and servants of tomorrow.

God Bless

Tower Project

Work on the Parish Church is almost complete. It is hoped that the external lighting will be reconnected this week. While the project is complete the parish debt will be paid off over the next number of years. Thank you to all who have donated to the project and to all who have been in a position to increase their weekly envelope donation by €1/€2. Every little helps. Thank you
