AN EVENING OF SONG AND STORY

Presented by Raymond Daly from his historical songbook Ten Faithful Years (1913-1923) in Song and Story on Friday 9th October 7:30pm High St. Community Centre, R42 AX66. Raymond will share how he was inspired to compile the book following events which took place in 2016, along with the many stories uncovered during his years of research. He will tell the stories of local people who came on board to share their experiences and family histories, including relatives' involvement in the Great War and other relatives who fought for Irish freedom to end British rule in Ireland. Songs and ballads from the book will be performed on the night by Michael Middleton. For more information, contact Raymond Daly: 0868722204 or email raydaly1969@gmail.com

26TH SUNDAY OF THE YEAR

The first son thought better of it and went'.

In a sense, both brothers were wrong. The actions of the first son is more commendable. At first, he refused his father's request to go to work in the vineyard. Then he found his better self and went. His change of mind reminds us that first reactions aren't always the best. Second thoughts are worthwhile. It's never too late to do the right thing. To change one's mind is not a sign of weakness but a sign of strength.

The second son agreed to go to the vineyard, but he didn't go. He broke his promise. The world survives on the basis of people keeping their word. The destruction of our planet, the growth of division between peoples, the loss of confidence in institutions, the deepening uncertainty with regard to the future can all be traced back to broken promises. For every promise there is a price to pay. The ideal for the Christian is to make promise and practice rhyme. When deeds and words are in accord, the world is transformed. Both brothers fell short!
