Farewell by Fr Henry McCann. This Sunday 9th August will mark the last Sunday Mass celebrated by me in the parish of St Anthony, as its parish priest. I thank God for 12 fond and fulfilling years I have spent working with parishioners here. I have been privileged to help parishioners to come to a deeper knowledge of the faith that has sustained many in this parish and church of St Anthony, since its opening in 1938, and its subsequent formation as a parish outright in 1955. I have acknowledged the various previous parish priests who have supported the faith community. I have seen the pride with which parishioners have supported this parish and church remembering its difficult years during the Troubles. I have acknowledged the deep faith of the remnant of those parishioners, and the Polish community who has also found it a home, fostering their language, customs and traditions which are witnesses to their deep faith as well. I have witnessed the many other nationals who have come to find it their home, from Eastern European nationals, Philippino, Indian, Goan, African, Chinese, Portugese, and many others besides. We have witnessed together the 80th Anniversary of the Opening of St Anthony's in 1918 by Bishop Noel Treanor and the commissioning of the then Pastoral Council. We have coped with the recent Covid-19 Pandemic, which has led to the broadcasting of mass on Facebook Live. I have found the support of parishioners and visitors to the parish as something alive and faith-filled, encouraging my ministry and vocation. And hopefully in the guidance of parishioners and visitors to St Anthony's they have found in me a loyal and faithful shepherd after the heart of Jesus the Good Shepherd. I continue to be the Chaplain to the Ulster Hospital, Dundonald, as I move to the parish of St Malachy, in the city centre, on the weekend of 15th August, but I hope not to be stranger, as we as clergy continue to work in the family of Parishes of St Anthony's, St Malachy's, St Matthew's, St Colmcille's (Ballyhackamore) and St Colmcille's (Holywood).
I pray that the parish can cope with the absence of a resident priest, and give support to Fr Peter Carlin, parish priest of St Matthew's as he prepares to take up the pastoral leadership of what was its daughter parish. I am certain that you will welcome and give Fr Carlin the same support and prayers as you have given to me. I wish you every blessing from God as we mark a further stage along the history of the parish of St Anthony's and in the life of the diocese. May the of parishioners and visitors continue to be strengthened and nourished into the future. God bless you all. Fr Henry.
