Shebna, master of the royal palace, having climbed to become master of King Hezekiah’s palace had become proud and self-important. In the interest of good governance, he is replaced by Eliakim. The metaphor of ‘the key of the House of David on his shoulder’ is borrowed from an ancient Egyptian custom. (What may be Shebna’s actual, elaborate tomb was recently discovered at Siloam cemetery in Jerusalem.) Second Reading: Rom. 11:33-36. At the end of three chapters setting out how pagans and Jews have been part of God’s plan of salvation, Paul composes this triumphant hymn to the wisdom of God. As Creator He has an overview of all time and place. Who could ever teach him? Who could ever be his counsellor? Gospel: Mt. 16:13-20. By a special divine grace Peter declares timelessly that Jesus is “the Messiah and Son of the living God." Jesus now gives him a hitherto unknown personal name - ‘petros’ - meaning ‘rock’. The new name emphasises his new role as the strengthener of his brothers’ faith and foundation of unity for his church. This is also a watershed moment. From this time on, Jesus began to speak of his coming passion. ONE DAY PILGRIMAGE TO LOUGH DERG The Parish is running a one-day pilgrimage to Lough Derg on Saturday 5 September.
