30th Sunday in Ordinary Time: To love the Lord with all your heart, is this even possible? A common assumption is that love must just come, that it grows organically, and cannot be forced. Any kind of love; for a parent, spouse, child, or friend will reach a point during which it is no longer easy. For love to be true, it must be a free choice and commitment. All your heart, soul, and mind, sounds rather extreme, even rather dangerous. The world says that loving anyone totally is a risky proposition, what if the one we love rejects us or lets us down, leaving us with nothing. And the world is even more terrified to love God totally, who cannot be seen. After all, to love totally is to trust that we will find fulfilment by not looking for it ourselves, but by looking to fulfill someone else. True love takes a leap of faith, which frightens non-believers. Many people are okay with going to church every now and then or volunteering for a charity from time to time. But loving God with everything means that all we do is for love of him. We trust that he will take care of us.

MATTHEW 22:34-40
Throughout Scripture, the emphasis on our obligation to love is unambiguous. To love God, to love our neighbour, and yes, to love ourselves, is the core of the Old Testament covenant and also the call of Jesus. Compassion, generosity, and forgiveness are the nature of this love. Love is not simply an emotion, it is action. Love is walking the extra mile, giving from our poverty, listening to the tedious, caring for the helpless, welcoming the stranger. Love calls us to live as if the Kingdom of God were already here and, by doing so, to make it a reality. Love demands us to go beyond our basic instinct of self-preservation to serve the needs of others.

Cemetery Prayer. May God's perpetual light shine upon the faces of all laid to rest here.
May the lives they lived in our homes continue to inspire and to guide us on the way.
May the memories we carry and share in stories, keep them part of our lives and part of our family.
May the gentle Summer rains fall like tears from the skies of Heaven to bless them.
May the wild flowers and the Summer meadows whisper their prayer in the gentle breeze of silence.
May the birds of the dawn chorus sing their prayer of the beauty and joy of Heaven.
May we always reverence this sacred clay as the holy ground that holds seeds of hope.
May each time we visit, walk, sit, pray and listen here bring us closer to the heart of God's kindness.
May the Angels guide them, the Saints protect them and the prayer of Mary hold them in the light. Amen.

Should we Obey the Government?

The Pharisees in today's Gospel reading were trying to trick Jesus and make Him say something wrong. They asked Him whether they should pay taxes to the pagan emperor. If He said no then He would be speaking against the emperor, but if He said yes then it would seem like He was saying that it was good for the Jews to be ruled by the pagan Romans.

But Jesus knew what the Pharisees were trying to do. He told them to show Him a coin, and asked them whose picture was on it. They said it was Caesar's (the Roman emperor's,) so Jesus told them, "Then repay to Caesar what is Caesar's and to God what is God's." He was telling them that they should obey the rulers of the land, but also that they should obey God.

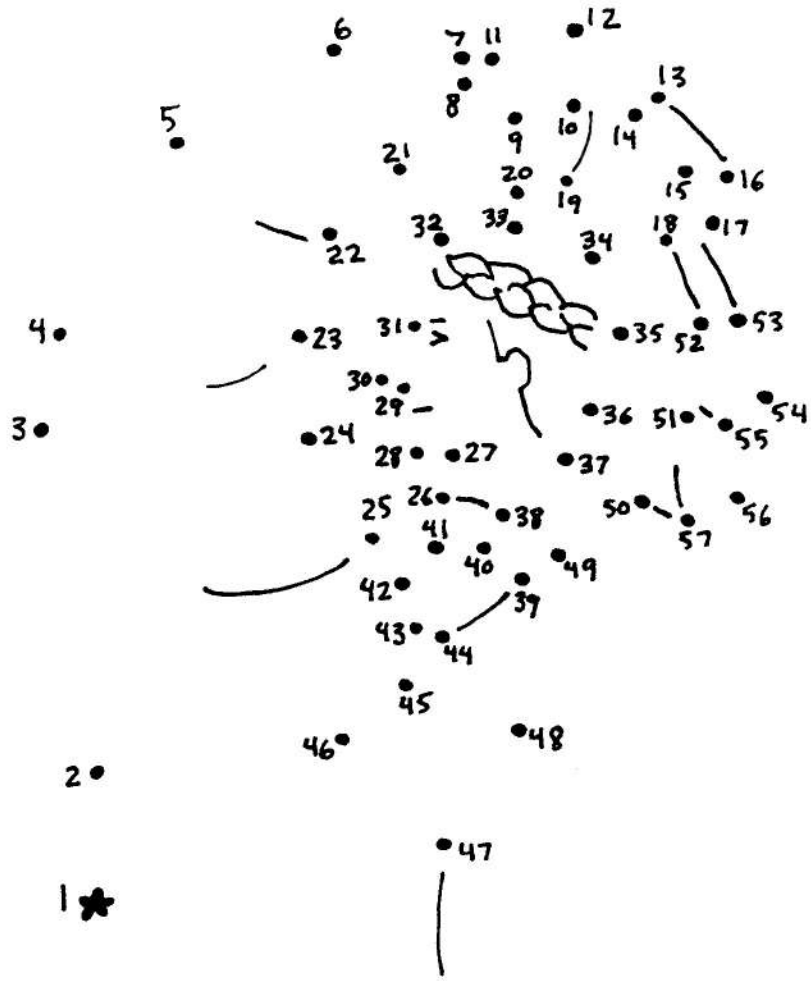

We have two kinds of laws: God's laws and the laws of our governments. Both are for our own good, but God's laws are more important. We should obey the government's laws as long as they agree with God's laws, but we must always obey God's laws. Can you think of some laws that the government makes that are for our good?

The Energy of True Religion

'To love God and love your neighbour - this is one of the most attractive of the sayings of Jesus. It is an encouragement to live fully with what brings the greatest joy in life - true love of God and the neighbour. It is at the heart of good religion, and what attracts many to Jesus. Bad religion puts law above love. Bad religion fights for the partial truth of religion. We risk being victims of bad religion, just as we can be victims of bad nationalism, bad psychology or any other bad way of living. Jesus' life was to propose good religion and to live by it. The religion of some of the Pharisees was bad, in that it was incomplete in its scope. Fr. Donal Neary

"Love the Lord your God…
Love your neighbour as yourself… '

I met a community organiser at a number of meetings locally. I liked her style, so one day I asked her how she had gotten into her profession. She spoke of her idealism in college - but that it was mostly talk and little action.

A trip to Malawi in Africa radicalised her as she experienced the sheer enormity of the poverty that she found all around her. So she decided when she came home that she would try to make a difference with her life by working for justice for the homeless, the elderly, and the poor.

What made her different from the others with whom she worked was her ability to listen to people and to help them feel they were all that was important to her at that moment.

She never spoke to me of her religious beliefs, but she clearly exhibited a genuine faith, a gospel faith put into action. The world in which we live is political, like it or not. The politics she practiced was based on a respect for the dignity of each person.

We are called as Christians to share that same perspective, to see the dignity in everyone. But we are also called to take it a step further. We are called to love all others as our neighbours and in that way show our love for God. That is our political action. Justice flows from that love like a river flows through its bed.

Should we Obey the Government?

The Pharisees in today's Gospel reading were trying to trick Jesus and make Him say something wrong. They asked Him whether they should pay taxes to the pagan emperor. If He said no then He would be speaking against the emperor, but if He said yes then it would seem like He was saying that it was good for the Jews to be ruled by the pagan Romans.

But Jesus knew what the Pharisees were trying to do. He told them to show Him a coin, and asked them whose picture was on it. They said it was Caesar's (the Roman emperor's,) so Jesus told them, "Then repay to Caesar what is Caesar's and to God what is God's." He was telling them that they should obey the rulers of the land, but also that they should obey God.

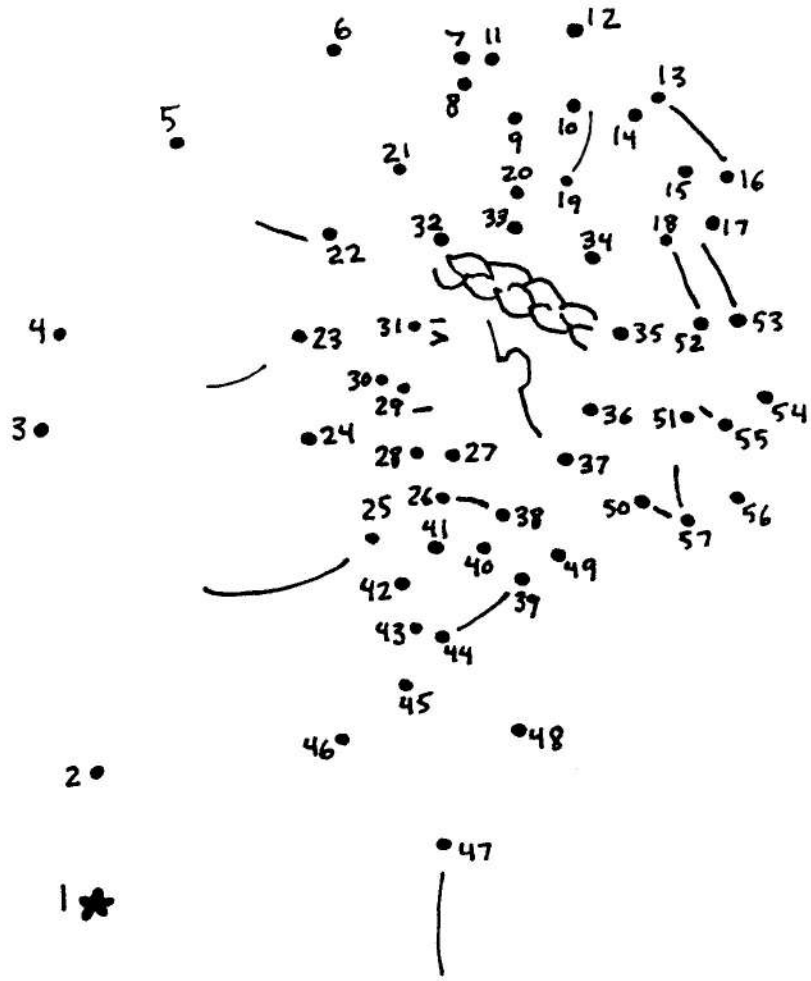

We have two kinds of laws: God's laws and the laws of our governments. Both are for our own good, but God's laws are more important. We should obey the government's laws as long as they agree with God's laws, but we must always obey God's laws. Can you think of some laws that the government makes that are for our good?
