Dear Friends,

“The way you think is not God’s way but man’s way.” The words of Jesus in today’s Gospel are stark, but they also speak a truth that is as relevant to our world today as it was when they were first spoken. Jesus speaks to every generation, and these words challenge us to look honestly at the values and priorities that shape our lives. We live in an increasingly secularised world, one which can place great emphasis on material success, possessions, comfort and personal fulfilment. And, if we are honest, it is very easy for all of us to become caught up in those things from time to time.

So perhaps the question for us today is simply: How does God think? Each of us might answer that question differently, but Scripture gives us some important insights. We know that God is just, yet infinitely merciful to those who seek His forgiveness. We know that He is compassionate and that He never abandons us. We believe that God has a plan for each of our lives, a plan which ultimately leads us towards the greatest blessing of all: eternal happiness with Him.

God has also given each of us the precious gift of free will. But free will, like every gift and every power, carries with it a responsibility. We are called to use our freedom wisely and to make choices that reflect not simply what the world tells us is important, but what God asks of us.

So perhaps today we might ask ourselves some honest questions: Do I seek God’s mercy and forgiveness? Do I try to follow His ways in the decisions I make? Do my priorities reflect the Gospel? Am I preparing my heart for eternity, or am I becoming too focused on the things of this world?

Last week, I set myself—and all of us as a community—a simple challenge: that we would try to bring a little more goodness and kindness into our world through small acts and words of kindness. I have been doing reasonably well with that challenge so far, and I have come to realise that perhaps it is a challenge worth continuing. So, for another week, I invite you to join me. Look for an opportunity each day to be kind, to encourage someone, to forgive, to help, or simply to make someone’s day a little brighter. They may seem like small things, but perhaps that is precisely the point. They are small ways in which we can begin to think less like the world and more like God—and allow His goodness to be seen through us.

“The way you think is not God’s way but man’s way.” May our thoughts, our choices and our lives increasingly reflect the mind and heart of Christ.

With every blessing,
Fr Barry Matthews Adm.

Anniversaries & Month’s Mind Masses should be left in the Parish Office no later than 12noon on the Thursday of the week before the anniversary is due to be remembered, this includes Saturday Anniversaries. Anniversaries are read out at all Masses on weekday or one Sunday Mass. Months Minds will be remembered at the 12:30pm Mass on Sunday following the Months Mind. We request that you leave your anniversary in as early as possible to avoid disappointment.

St Patrick's Cathedral Gift Shop The Cathedral Gift Shop is open each day from 10.30am – 1.30pm and it stocks a lovely variety of cards and gifts for special occasions, including traditional Irish crafts and gifts and souvenir booklets on the Cathedral.

A Student's Prayer for a New School Year

Lord Jesus, I ask for Your help as I begin this new school year.

Allow me to experience Your presence in the many blessings You put before me.

Open my eyes to the new challenges and exciting opportunities that this new school year brings.

Open my heart and mind to new friends and new teachers.

Give me a generous spirit to be enthusiastic with my studies and courage to accept new opportunities.
 Help me to be attentive to my teachers and let me experience

Your presence in my new friends.

Jesus, inspire me to do my best this year!
 Amen.

Prayer for Today

Loving God, help me to understand that the one thing you want from me is my presence. Help me to realise that my presence is the one gift I can give and that it is often the only gift that matters. Help me to let go of stress, worry, hurt, pain and grudges. All I need is to be more aware of Your presence in my life today and always.
 Amen.

In 2026, Walshestown N.S. proudly celebrates 60 years at the heart of our community. For six decades, generations of children have walked through our school doors, forming lifelong friendships, creating treasured memories, and beginning their educational journeys.

To mark this historic occasion, a special Anniversary Mass will be celebrated next Sunday, 4th October at 10:45am, in the Church of Ss Peter & Paul's, Walshestown. Following the Mass, everyone is invited back to the school for refreshments, and an opportunity to reminisce and share stories from years gone by.

Exploring what hospitality for migrant people means in contemporary Ireland

Hospitality in Today's Ireland

Ireland's tradition of hospitality - céad míle fáilte - faces challenges due to rising immigration, which has exposed longstanding societal issues like housing, homelessness, and gaps in social services. These challenges existed before immigration became a prominent issue, but some fearful and angry voices now call for closing borders. However, the Irish people, conscious of our own history of migration and Christian faith, must continue to welcome newcomers. Many immigrants bring valuable skills and talents, while others seek support for a better future.

As Christians, the belief in the sanctity of life and the commandment to 'love your neighbour' calls us to care for everyone, regardless of their background. The parable of the Good Samaritan reminds us that our neighbour includes all, regardless of ethnicity or status. The Irish Catholic Bishops' Conference urges all Christians, and people of goodwill, to embrace this Biblical invitation to welcome the stranger, creating parishes and communities of hospitality where people truly belong. Welcoming others is not only a societal duty but also a Gospel command to love and serve as Christ did.

Reflect: When have you been blessed by hospitality that you received?

Migration: An Irish Reality

Migration has been a central part of Irish history, shaped by events such as war, famine, economic collapse, and now, climate change. During the Great Famine (1845 - 1852), nearly two million people left Ireland, but migration has long been a reality for the Irish, with significant exoduses as recently as the 1950s and 1980s - the legacies of which remain with us today. It is a new experience for Ireland to be a destination for migrants, a clear sign of the country's economic and social progress.

Historically, Irish migrants often faced discrimination abroad. Father Gerry McFlynn, of the Irish Council for Prisoners Overseas office in London, recalls the change since migrating to live in England at the end of the 1970's. The 1980's and 1990's were difficult decades to be Irish there. 'One had the strong sense of being "a suspect community", having to keep one's head down, say little publicly, always conscious of one's accent and background.' He adds that it was not until the Good Friday Agreement of 1998 that attitudes began to change for the better.

The Catholic faith itself is a migrant's faith, spread throughout Ireland by Saint Patrick, an immigrant and former slave. The Irish diaspora played a key role in spreading the faith, with Irish missionaries and communities flourishing globally. Pope Francis, the son of immigrants, constantly highlights the sacredness of the migrant's journey, reminding us that welcoming migrants is akin to welcoming Christ.

Reflect: Have you or your loved ones been migrants? How did that experience feel?

Welcome: The Migrant's Gift

In recent years, Ireland has seen many immigrants seeking a better life, and local parishes, schools, and community organisations have played a key role in integrating them. The Catholic Church in Ireland has become a space where long established communities encounter and befriend newcomers, fostering diversity - which is a gift and a source of renewal.

One example is Irene Nunes, who came from Brazil to Ballyhaunis thirteen years ago. Irene and her family were warmly welcomed by the local parish, where she now serves as a sacristan and member of the Parish Pastoral Council. She speaks of the strong sense of belonging and community that she and other Brazilians have experienced in the parish, exemplified by a celebration where five Brazilian couples were married at the same ceremony in Saint Patrick's Church. This experience of radical hospitality reflects early Christian communities, where cultural and ethnic divisions were overcome through shared faith in Jesus. The Church in Ireland now experiences this same sense of welcome and renewal through the presence of immigrants.

Encounter: Moving from Welcome to Belonging

Irish Catholic Bishops strongly encourage a "culture of encounter" that goes beyond mere tolerance of newcomers. Such a culture fosters authentic participation and integration. Polite tolerance can leave migrants feeling isolated, but true Christian encounter involves mutual enrichment, where established communities and newcomers share and learn from each other. It is noted that the Irish Council of Churches and the Irish Inter-Church Meeting, bodies which facilitate dialogue between all of the Churches across the island, have recently produced resources to help enhance such encounter and belonging. Pope Francis emphasises the need to engage with others deeply, not just seeing but truly listening and connecting with them. This spirit of encounter reflects the early Christian understanding that believers are 'foreigners and exiles' in the world, called to form connections beyond borders.

Our Church's universality ensures that every parish is connected globally. Furthermore, Church teachings affirm the dignity of every person - including that of the migrant - and remind us that every person possesses inalienable rights and deserve respect and welcome.

Reflect: When have you felt truly encountered, listened to, and valued? How did that impact you?

Challenges to Integration

Immigration to Ireland is high at present, though not at the levels previously seen through the peak of the Celtic Tiger era. In the most recent year for which there are statistics (up to April 2024), 149,200 people came to live in Ireland. However, 69,900 people left Ireland in the same period.¹ The figures for Northern Ireland are lower, with the most recent statistics suggesting a net immigration of 2,300 people in 2022.² These numbers contain a great diversity. It includes Irish citizens returning to live here, people on employment visas coming to take up particular roles, EU citizens availing of the freedom of movement, people from Britain who benefit from the Common Travel Area and many others besides. A significant factor in the numbers coming to Ireland in recent years were Ukrainians who are fleeing the Russian invasion of February 2022. Their numbers constitute a net figure of just over 81,000.³ The number of people who come seeking International Protection is a small proportion of the overall number – about 14,000.⁴ According to the European Union statistics body, the number of people found to have been here in Ireland illegally in 2023 was 1,485 people.⁵

One of the reasons why the topic of immigration can be contentious is that differences within the meaning of the term are not always acknowledged. "Immigrant" often means someone who has made a permanent home in a new country. "Migrant" often means someone who is only based in the new country for a period. "Asylum seeker" refers to someone who is claiming protection outside their country of origin, which is different from a "refugee", who is someone who has had that claim confirmed. It is important to note that the formal definition of refugee does not include anybody displaced within their own country, or who travels abroad to escape poverty or famine.

While these definitions are important from a legal perspective, we should not allow them to obscure what matters most to Christians: regardless of where a person was born or what passport they carry: they are our neighbour.

An example of the challenges to integration is Patrick's story. Patrick was born in Nigeria and grew up in a loving Catholic home before marrying and coming to work in Ireland in 2002. He tells us that adjusting to Irish society was challenging but he and his family gradually integrated 'through a long process of acculturation'. He adds, 'we have four children, all born in Ireland, who identify more as Irish than Nigerian. After my wife's passing, we navigated through difficult times but also enjoyed good moments together. Finding employment was a difficult challenge but I got help and training through State sponsored FÁS courses and I am now in my third and, hopefully, most lasting job.' While Patrick is aware of the cultural differences he has experienced in work, in Church and with neighbours, he concludes that despite all of this, 'coming to Ireland has been a blessing. We have the freedom to practice our faith and we are happy, although we miss Nigeria and find travel there expensive.'

It is common to hear people talk about the costs of immigration. But almost one-in-five workers in the Irish economy are 'non-Irish-nationals'.⁶ Our economy could not function without the people working in the sectors of hospitality, education, healthcare and technology, who have come here from elsewhere. Economists describe our economy as "at full employment" and it is still growing. There is clearly an inescapable need for migration. No one can but doubt that these newcomers have become foundational to the positive operation of our society.

Reflect: How have migrants blessed your life?

Building a Friendly Society

Ireland faces significant challenges, such as homelessness, strained health services, and an education system struggling to meet demands. However, these issues have been on the landscape for some time - they have not been caused by migration.

Migrants can help address these needs, contributing positively to society. It is important to approach immigration policies in a way that serves the common good, which includes both migrants and citizens. We are fortunate to live in a country with a stable democracy and a vibrant civil society, and we encourage all citizens to participate in such political debate to the fullest of their abilities and convictions. Pope Francis urges political leaders to prioritise effective solutions to social and economic exclusion, emphasising "political charity" to overcome individualism. Christians are called to support this vision collectively.

Reflect: How can you encourage constructive debate on the things that really matter in our society?

Caption Pope Francis greets pilgrims in Croke Park, Dublin, during the Holy Father's visit to Ireland for the 9th World Meeting of Families in August 2018.

A Call to Parishes: Community Sponsored Programme

As Irish society changes, the Church is tasked with welcoming and integrating migrants. Pope Francis warns against building "walls in the heart" and encourages a culture of openness, reflecting Jesus' inclusive ministry and his command 'Ephphatha' – be opened! (Mark 7:31-37). Parishes are urged to oppose fear and recognise the image of God (Genesis 1:27) in every migrant, regardless of nationality.

One practical response is the Community Sponsorship Programme, where local communities sponsor and resettle refugee families. This scheme is supported by the Government of Ireland and led by the Irish Red Cross and partners. One example of this is the parish of Clane in Co Kildare, which successfully welcomed a Syrian family in 2019, and it provides a model for how parishes can respond to refugee needs with hospitality and support.⁷

Reflect: How can migrants in your parish help shape the journey from welcome to belonging?

Conclusion

Migration presents many challenges for all involved: immigrants seeking safety and a better future, as well as for those who welcome them, and the governments and communities responsible for providing shelter and support.

As migration to Ireland increases, it brings both difficulties and opportunities for society. While the changes ahead remain uncertain, the teachings of the Gospel provide timeless guidance on addressing these challenges.

Catholic Social Teaching emphasises the dignity of every human being and the common good, offering a foundation for action. The Church sees the “travail of migrants” as a violation of human dignity, and urges us to welcome migrants so as to support the defence of their inalienable rights.⁸

The patron saints of immigrants and refugees, such as Saint Patrick, Saint Frances Xavier Cabrini and Saint Josephine Bakhita, remind us of the Christian call to compassion, love, and service to the marginalised. As we face the ongoing realities of migration, displacement, and human trafficking, we must draw from these sources of faith for guidance.

May we always welcome and advocate for migrants. In doing so, we fulfil our shared role as a “migrant pilgrim people,” continuing the Irish tradition of openness, encounter, and hospitality, and bearing witness to God’s eternal love.

BLESSING OF ROSES: will take place at all Masses next Weekend (3rd/4th October).

SEASON OF CREATION: In his message for the “Season of Creation”, Pope Leo XIV calls us to appreciate the gift of life amid suffering that is itself a plea for healing and peace which we believe flows from the enduring love of Christ. Consistent in his advocacy for peace, Pope Leo alerts us to the terror of war arising from the contradictory desires within us. Such internal turmoil results in social and ecological destruction to create wounds that require healing. Pope Leo invites us to ‘transform harm into life’ in accordance with the prophetic call to “beat swords into ploughshares” (Is 2:4). Pope Leo concludes that it’s only with God’s help that we can courageously seek peace and the care of creation. The Season of Creation concludes with the, Feast of Saint Francis of Assisi on 4 October 2026.

BETHANY HOUSE OF PRAYER: invite you to a candlelit “Prayer Around the Cross”, with the music of Taizé, on Friday 2nd October 8pm. Followed by tea/coffee. (34 Point Rd, Dundalk)

HUMAN LIFE INTERNATIONAL, IRELAND: As part of his tour of Ireland, Fr Lawrence Carney (international speaker and popular author), will speak in the Canal Court Hotel, Newry, on Tuesday 29th September at 6:45pm. A first-class relic of St Thérèse of Lisieux will be present. Admission is free.

EVORA HOSPICE CHURCH DOOR COLLECTION: A church-door collection for the local Hospice will be held after Masses in our parish next weekend (3rd / 4th October). All donations to this collection are gratefully received. 2026 marks the 37th year of Evora Hospice Care (formerly Southern Area Hospice Services) and this year over £4 million must be raised to continue providing the specialist palliative care to patients and their families across Down, Armagh and Tyrone. In 2025, collections in parishes across the Southern Trust Area raised over £37,358 for our Hospice and with your support again this year we hope to build on this amount. Thank you for your support.

EVORA HOSPICE MEMORY TREE: Remember someone special by dedicating a light on the Evora Hospice Memory Tree. Your dedication is a meaningful way to remember a loved one while supporting the care provided by Evora Hospice. For more information, please visit the Evora Hospice website or contact our Fundraising Office on 028 3026 7711. Thank you for your continued support

PRECIOUS LIFE: invite you to join them tomorrow, Monday 28th, at 6.15pm, at Primark/Bank Buildings, Donegal Place, Belfast, to walk together to Belfast City Hall for a peaceful “Choose Life Witness”, opposing the planned illumination for so-called “International Safe Abortion Day.”

ANAM CARA, ARMAGH, who support bereaved parents, will hold their next Parent Support Evening on Wednesday 30th September at 7.30 pm, in the Armagh City Hotel. This event is free and open to all bereaved parents regardless of the age your child died, the circumstances of their death, or whether their death was recent or not. They also offer an online support service and can be contacted at info@anamcara.ie or on 003531 4045378.

In 2026, Walshestown N.S. proudly celebrates 60 years at the heart of our community. For six decades, generations of children have walked through our school doors, forming lifelong friendships, creating treasured memories, and beginning their educational journeys.

To mark this historic occasion, a special Anniversary Mass will be celebrated next Sunday, 4th October at 10:45am, in the Church of Ss Peter & Paul's, Walshestown. Following the Mass, everyone is invited back to the school for refreshments, and an opportunity to reminisce and share stories from years gone by.

PASTORAL LETTER – “Go, Rebuild My Church”

Archbishop Eamon has, following the Diocesan Congress, written a Pastoral Letter to the people of the Archdiocese. This letter is available on our Facebook Page and Website, copies have also been left for People in the Church Porches. We encourage everyone to read this letter.

COME AND LISTEN....

A series of Scripture based talks for Adults and Young People. Beginning on Monday 5th October at 7pm and continuing each Monday and Thursday in Newry Parish Centre. Get to know a bit more of your faith through the word of God.

November Parish List of the Dead

As we approach the month of Holy Souls, we invite you to remember your deceased family members and friends. The Parish List of the Dead and envelopes are now available in each of our parish churches.

Please take a List, carefully write down the names of those you wish to remember, and return it with your Mass Offering before 1st November.

You can drop the envelopes into the collection baskets, to the Sacristy, Parochial House or the parish office.

All those named on these lists will be remembered in the Mass, that will offered up on the First Friday of each month in the coming year. I would encourage parishioners to join in this Mass, in praying for all our deceased.

May they rest in eternal peace.

"It is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be released from their sins." — 2 Maccabees 12:46

Spend Time with Jesus

Tuesday Evening Adoration

Could you spend an hour—or even half an hour—with Christ?

Parishioners are warmly invited to spend time before the Blessed Sacrament in the Parish Pastoral Room, Belleeks, every Tuesday evening from 7pm to 9pm.

Jesus awaits us to bless us, guide us, and fill us with His peace and wisdom. Even thirty minutes can make a difference, and your presence is welcome.

Please contact the Parish Office if you would like to take part in this special time of prayer for our parish community.

Allow Christ to be part of your week.

ST LAURENCE O'TOOLE'S CHURCH UPDATE

We continue to appeal to Parishioners for support through our “Donate a Slate” Campaign, which is helping us cover the cost of restoring the roof. Slates cost £10 each and can be purchased by completing an envelope available in all Churches, with your donation inside. These slates can be dedicated in memory of a loved one or as a gift to family members. Dedications will be displayed on the Parish Website.

We are also seeking sponsorship for several important items, including:

Large Windows Around the Church – £3,500 each

Rebuilding the Back Altar (Reredos) – £12,000

To sponsor any of these items, please contact us at 028-3750-7214 or email info@parishofloughgilly.com
